Fine 100% Camel Hair

The enduring good looks of these coats is assured by the superb quality of our imported camel hair. It is carefully processed and woven, right here in the United States, into a soft, lustrous fabric that readily adapts to varying temperatures . . . it is even moth-proofed.

Our coats have the new narrower lapels and shoulders. Other plus points of tailoring include: hand-stitched edges, shape-retaining Stay-flex interfacings, blind-stitched 2-inch hems, stay-back anchor buttons, Milium insulated acetate satin linings, fly-buttoned back vents. Made in the right size for you: MISS, TALL MISS, or PETITE JUNIOR.

Dacron® and Worsted Wool

The timeless appeal of these dresses is enhanced by this wonderful new fabric. An intimate blend of 55% Dacron polyester and 45% fine worsted wool, the two fibers are spun together before weaving. The result is a fabric of superlative quality and performance. Wrinkles never start . . . you can pack it in a suitcase . . . still, no need for pressing. It's ideal for year-round wear. It drapes beautifully; pleats keep their sharpness.

To do justice to the fabric we've chosen two great styles that are nicely finished with extra-close stitched seams, tape reinforcement at waistline and hemline, generous hem and comfortably contoured belt.

Worsted Wool Double Knits

To begin with, the fabric is of fine quality natural fibers: 100% virgin worsted wool. These yarns are knit on special machines . . first in one direction, then in the other. The result is a fabric that does not sag, cling, wrinkle or pill . . it is really magnificent. The suit-weight we have used is ideal to wear any season of the year . . it travels or packs with ease.

As to styling, who can resist the elegant simplicity and versatility of these 3-piece suits?

The jackets are fully lined with soft acetate-and-rayon crepe.

The skirts are seat-lined and have 2-inch hems. Careful hand workmanship insures neat collars and bindings. Made in the right size for you:

fashion . . a tradition we uphold in Mary Lewis Classic Knits

Made in England of Merino Wool

These sweaters are fine examples of a classic look. They reflect the magnificence of the superior wool of Merino sheep plus the traditional English art of looming this wool into soft, supple fine-gauge knits. The thinness and extra-strong, elastic quality of the fibers allow the wool to be spun very fine. The long length of the fibers produces knits of great evenness that neither pill nor fuzz.

So tightly knit, these sweaters keep their shape better. They are fully fashioned with raglan sleeves to fit better. You'll marvel at such richness, so modestly priced.

DOUBLE KNIT WOOL JERSEY

We went 'round the world to get this finer quality worsted wool. In Australia, the soft virgin Merino wool fibers were selected. They were spun and yarn-dyed, as opposed to piece-dyed, for the utmost in richness and uniformity of color. In Belgium, the yarns were knitted on special double-needle machines, creating a lightweight fabric with substantial body
for draping and with the right amount of elasticity for shape retention.

Here in the United States, the fabric was fashioned into the delightful styles shown.

Superbly tailored with closely stitched, generous side seams . . reinforcing
tape at the waistlines . . 2-inch hems.
All this . . and yet, Sears double-knit jerseys are modestly priced.

Three-piece Suitdress. Jacquard-patterned sleeveless blouse has hidden elastic at the waistline to give it a smart blouson effect . . back zipper. Easy-fitting cardigan jacket with patch pockets. Side-zippered slim skirt. Dry clean.
